Explain your selected case study, describe the central problem, and recommend a practical solution.

Fictional Lumen Harbor Cooperative reduced food waste by routing surplus produce through neighborhood cold lockers. Each locker recorded temperature every ten minutes, and a volunteer coordinator matched nearby requests before the evening pickup window. The pilot measured kilograms rescued, electricity use, and missed collections for twelve weeks.